CONGRESSIONAL HAPPENINGS IN WASHINGTON

By CLARENCE J. BROWN
Member of Congress

Both the House and Senate have started investigations of our present food shortages. Special attention is being paid now to the meat shortage problem which is already serious and promises to grow more so in the month ahead. Independent packers, testifying before the Senate committee, last week presented figures which seemed to prove government price ceilings on meat products are compelling them to operate at a heavy loss. Many small packers have already been forced out of business, while black market operations in meat have increased greatly. Meat has practically disappeared from most market counters of the larger eastern cities. Civilians are told the American meat supply is going to the men of our armed forces—but returning wounded veterans report but little meat has actually been reaching the men on the battle fronts.

A survey of several counties, in the richest agricultural area of Ohio, discloses much less food will be produced there in 1945 than in previous years. One township alone reports 500 less sows to farrow this Spring than a year ago—meaning approximately 3,500 less Spring pigs will go on feed this year than in 1944. If the same situation continues this Fall, 7,000 less hogs will reach market from this one rural township alone this year. Other farm areas furnish almost as startling figures as to lower food production. They give every thoughtful person much unusual concern. Bureaucratic bungling can quickly ruin food production. Only hard work, adequate labor, machinery and supplies on the farm; and fair prices in the market; along with time can restore it.

Food is not the only commodity which will be scarce during the months ahead, as a result of the scrambled inefficiency of the various government agencies which are trying to regulate production and distribution. Shoes will be in extremely short supply for civilians, as will work clothes, house dresses, cotton undergarments, children's clothing, men's and boys' suits and overcoats, sheets, towels, and other household goods. The passenger car tires available will be very limited, due almost entirely to the shortage of carbon black, a necessary item in tire manufacturing. The carbon black shortage springs from attempts of government agencies to compel the manufacturers thereof to sell their product at less than cost. Farm machinery production will fall far below essential demand this year. Steel, copper, lead, and zinc allotments for manufacturing goods for civilian use have been drastically reduced. Newsprint paper, and paper products of all classes, will be in much shorter supply than ever before during the next six months.

The House last week adopted the conference report on the "Work-or-Else" Bill by a margin of only seven votes. The Senate will probably not consider the compromise Bill until after Easter recess, and may not pass upon it at all if the war in Europe reaches its virtual end before Congress reconvenes. The production of war goods is reported to have increased greatly during the past two months. There never has been any real manpower shortage throughout the United States as a whole, and none exists today. If the compromise "Work-or-Else" Bill is enacted it will be only to the purpose of saving face for the Administration, and not because of need. The Bill, as reported by the Conference Committee, would freeze most employees in their present jobs and give War Mobilizer agencies power to fix employment ceilings for various industries, by areas, with a penalty on both employers and employees violating his orders. If the Bill becomes law industrial production will be benefited but little, if any, while business and industry, as well as labor, will be further regimented.

The wars go well for America and the United Nations on all fronts. The conflict in Europe seems to be drawing rapidly to a close, with our victorious armies driving into the very heart of Germany. Yet the price has been high. Already more young Americans have lost their lives in combat in World War II than were killed or fatally wounded in both the Union and Confederate forces during the Civil War, which was previously the most costly in the nation's history. According to official announcement

DR. RANGE TO MEET WITH DAIRYMEN

Dr. John Range, manager of the Western Ohio Breeders Association of Celina, will discuss artificial breeding of dairy cattle at the Court House Assembly Room, Tuesday evening April 10, at 8 o'clock. Dr. Range will show pictures of the bull rig and discuss blood lines of the animals. Farmers interested in artificial breeding of dairy cattle are urged to attend this meeting. The committee sponsoring the local breeding association expect to complete the sign-up this month. Dairymen should contact their township committeemen for the membership agreements.

SHEEP PARASITES LAUNCH SPRING OFFENSIVE

Shearing has disclosed heavy tick infestations in many flocks. These parasites promptly move to the baby lambs for better shelter and easier feeding. Unless some relief can be provided, many lambs will take a severe beating and remain stunted. Dipping is the most satisfactory for eradicating external parasites. This means dipping the entire flock any time after shearing cuts, docking and castrating wounds have healed. Baby lambs can be relieved by applying one of the livestock powders that carry rotenone or derris. A dose of phenothiazine is recommended for all mature sheep before they go to pasture. Drench or pellets should be used according to instructions on the package. Follow this with the 1 to 10 phenothiazine-half mixture. The mixture should be kept in a trough protected from sun and rain.

CROPS AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

March was an unusual month. All vegetation is far advanced for this season. Fruit trees have come out so fast the orchardists have had difficulty in keeping up with the spray and schedule. They are also fearful that a freeze will ruin the crop. Wheat, meadows and pastures are all making luxurious growth and furnish much needed pasture for livestock. On the other hand rains have kept farmers out of the field and prevented out seeding and spring plowing. Thousands of shocks of corn are yet to be harvested due to the severe winter.

WHEAT BEING PASTURED

The wheat outlook has probably never been better at this time of the year, and livestock are being turned into many fields to slacken the rapid growth and prevent lodging. The warm moist weather during March, together with the large amounts of nitrates in the soil due to the dry weather last fall has advanced wheat far beyond the normal growth for this season. Light pasturing with livestock, particularly with cattle will hold the growth back and reduce losses later by lodging. It will also benefit young clover seedlings. Livestock should only be turned on the crop when the ground is relatively dry. Clipping will also shorten the crop.

ALL WOOL BOUGHT BY GOVERNMENT

The government is the sole purchaser of wool. The 1945 prices will again be supported 6 to 8 cents per pound above foreign wool values by the purchase program administered by the Commodity Credit Corporation. Prices are the same as last year for local wools. Any purchaser of less than 3000 pounds may sell outright to his local handler or market his clip by consignment. Marketing on consignment may be through cooperative association or through independent handlers. The program has eliminated speculation on domestic wool since handlers receive only a specified handling charge for their services.

TREAT SEED OATS

Treatment to control oat smut are easy, effective, and cost very little. Either Ceresan or formaldehyde can be used for the smut control treatment. Either treatment can be used. Just before the oats are planted or can be made in advance. Oats treated with formaldehyde and held must be shelled over several times a day. Oats treated with Ceresan never should be fed to live stock. Ceresan is used at the rate of one-half ounce a bushel and thoroughly mixed with the seed. Treated seed should be left in sacks or in a pile for several hours before planting. One pint of formaldehyde with one pint of water will treat 50 bushels if applied with a hand sprayer.

Russians Release 4

Robert Coleman, A

German Prisoner

Mrs. A. D. Payne of this place has just received word from the War Department that her grandson, Staff Sgt. Robert Craig Coleman, who has been a prisoner of war in Germany in a prison camp east of the Oder river, has been released by the advancing Russians and is now in Russia.

Sgt. Coleman has been wounded on two occasions and returned to active duty as a paratrooper. He was captured by the Germans when he made a leap over Holland.

He is a former local high school student and enlisted in May, 1942, and was given overseas assignment in March, 1943. His mother is Mrs. Eula M. Coleman, Mt. Auburn, Cincinnati. He is a native of Philadelphia.

Will Investigate

Fatal Shooting

Coroner H. C. Schick, Monday entered upon an investigation into the fatal shooting of Danil Patrick, 25, of Springfield, who was shot by two special deputy sheriffs at Osborn. Deputies C. R. Stewart and James R. Ramsey said Patrick threatened them with a gun after they halted his car in connection with a traffic violation at Skyway Park homes, a federal project. Stewart was quoted by pressor as saying he shot Patrick, who died three hours later in a Xenia hospital.

WE LEAVE IT TO OTHERS

To the Editor:— I have a question of public interest that I think will give the farmers of Greene county an opportunity to do a little thinking. Monday morning I picked up my Dayton Journal and I find the price has been increased one more penny, following a similar cent increase some months ago. I thought we had ceiling prices on most everything including newspapers.

My next question concerns the policy of the Journal. While continually defending price ceilings and regulations and never offering to espouse or oppose the unfair ceiling prices on livestock, it is not a bit inconsistent for any newspaper to increase the price of the paper for more revenue and yet argue against higher farm prices because they would throw the nation into "inflation". Evidently the publishers feel certain the new price for the paper will not lead to inflation.

CURIOUS

The continued increase in costs of newspaper production no doubt warrants an increase in price. At the present time Dayton papers are faced with demands for much higher pay for newspaper workers that belong to the CIO Newspaper Guild. We are not in position to say whether the Guild demands are fair or not. We do know that other newspapers costs have greatly increased the past three years. Scarcity of printers makes it necessary for newspapers to work the employees "extra" time and this means a time and one-half rate. Also newspapers must pay social security taxes as levied by the New Deal and the higher the wage of each employee the more the social security tax the newspaper must pay. This same tax is certain to fall on every farmer if the New Deal and CIO has its way. In addition farmers face the Roosevelt guaranteed annual wage for all labor irrespective of the season.

Now as to the policy of the Journal or any newspaper, increasing prices of their commodity that must be sold to all classes, even the farmer, and at the same time defend price ceilings on farm products, is to say the least not in good taste and certainly a very unfair policy. Far too many newspapers look with suspicion on the extra dollar for the farmer as inflation. The farmer gets no pay for his family labor on the farm as in industry. The result of the administration policy is Less tobacco grown the and not the reflected in the "no meat" and "no cigarettes" signs, both of which is due directly to the New Deal planning. The Journal has at times been in sympathy with New Dealism under the guise of war necessity. The New Deal gave the newspapers the Guild. Many farmers have sown New Deal seed that proved to be chaff. "What a man soweth, so shall he reap" Both farmer and newspaper publication are now in the harvest for the pocketbook raiders.

WOMEN'S CLUB MEETING

The Women's Club will have their annual business meeting and luncheon at the home of Mrs. H. D. Furst, Thursday, April 12th at 12:30.

HOG AND CATTLE SUPPLY SHRINKS

The OPA might get an eye-full of just what the meat situation is in the country by following shipments of live stock to the terminal markets. The city folks that have been feeding on New Deal propaganda about the "black-market" might follow the shipment of hogs and cattle and make their own comparisons as to why the city meat stand show cases are empty.

Receipt of meat animals at the Chicago market Monday went to a low of 7,500 head of hogs which was the lowest April Monday in about 60 years. An ordinary Monday in that market would be 50,000 head. The cattle receipts were 14,000 head, the smallest for Monday in seven months.

The cattle offerings were 30 per cent under the average of the last six weeks. Tonnage per hundred hogs, or cattle was also a new low, showing unfinished hogs and cattle.

Draft Farm Heads

Confer On Manpower

Leaders of various farm organizations in Ohio conferred Monday with State Selective Service officials of Ohio's farm manpower problem.

A spokesman for the farm groups said they were told there had been a misinterpretation of many statements about drafting of farm-laborers into the armed services and that any changes in the present system would have to come from Washington.

The spokesman said agriculturalists reported "manpower so short that crops which take more labor will be the first to be eliminated." In that class, he said, were vegetables and tomatoes.

Selective service officials also were told that there would be a very large amount of idle acreage in the state this year.

Farm groups, represented at the meeting included the Farm Bureau Federation, the Ohio Grange and the AAA. Col. C. W. Bogle, State Selective Service director, headed the draft officials.

Dog Tag Sale

Sets New Record

A campaign against unlicensed dogs, authorized by Greene County commissioners in the form of a house-to-house check by County Dog Ward Alvin Shadley and his assistants, has proved profitable to the county because it has been discovered many dog owners neglected to take out dog licenses. A number with more than one dog took out only one and later had to take out additional, plus the penalty.

The 1945 sale of tags thus far has been 5,327 as compared with 4,269 in 1944. The deadline was January 20. Dog owners are still calling for the 1945 tags. The dog fund will be enriched considerably with the additional dogs plus $1 penalty. Payments of damaged or dead sheep killed by dogs, or other live stock or poultry is paid from this fund. Owners of live stock not returned for taxation and killed or injured by dogs cannot hope for damage payments.

March Record Is

Hottest, Wettest

March was not only the hottest March ever recorded but the wettest also since March 1913.

The average temperature was 52.1 degrees compared with a normal of 40.6 degrees. The rainfall was 11.5 inches or 7.98 inches above normal. Rainfall in March, 1913, was 13.48 inches.

Fruit is farther advance than we have had for many years and a freeze or heavy frost is expected to do untold damage.

Many farmers are pasturing wheat to hold it back rather than let get too rank. There is danger now that heavy wheat may smother young clover.

The continued wet weather has hindered spring plowing. Has made out door work almost impossible even to rebuilding or repair of fences.

Parole Violator

Sent To Prison

Charged with parole violation after being arrested by Xenia police this week for intoxication, Gus Wright, 61 Xenia, was sentenced on Monday by Common Pleas Judge Frank L. Johnson to serve one to seven years in Ohio penitentiary.

Wright pleaded guilty to larceny two months ago after being indicted by the grand jury and was sent to the Xenia state hospital for a 30-day observation period. Returned recently after being pronounced sane, he was placed on probation for two years.

John W. Bricker To Address Patriotic Rally Thursday Eve

JOHN W. BRICKER

John W. Bricker, former governor of Ohio and in 1944 the Republican vice presidential nominee, will be the featured speaker at a patriotic rally honoring Greene county servicemen and women, planned for Thursday night, April 12, at the Xenia Central high school field house to promote the seventh war loan drive opening May 14th.

Common Pleas Judge Frank L. Johnson, county war finance committee chairman, announced that James Rowe, president of the Fifth-Third Trust company, Cincinnati, and war bond chairman for south-western Ohio also will be a speaker. There will be no solicitation for the sale of bonds at this meeting.

Governor Bricker's subject will be: "America In The World of Tomorrow." Make a point to attend this meeting not only as a patriotic duty but to pay honor to the former Governor.

Sidney A. Smith Died Wednesday, 11 A. M.

Sidney A. Smith, who has been ill for several months, died at his home on Elm st., Wednesday at 11 a. m. Death was due to injuries sustained last October while employed at the Hall, federal housing agency, near Springfield.

The deceased was born in Milan, Ill., and was the son of A. Z. and Katherine Herlihy Smith. The deceased came to Cedarville in 1898 and was assistant to his father, who was superintendent of The Hagar Straw Board & Paper Co. for 27 years. He was a member of the Methodist Church.

The deceased is survived by his widow, Mrs. Elta Crouse Smith; two daughters, Mrs. Thelma Hemmer, of Richmond, Ind., and Mrs. Gladys Forst of Kendallville, Ind., grandson, William Hemmer, of Richmond, and a sister, Mrs. Louisa Patterson, Coldwater, Mich.

The funeral service will be from the Nagley Funeral Home, Xenia, Friday at 2:30 P. M. The service will be in charge of Dr. H. H. Abels. Burial in North Cemetery.

Board of Revision To View Properties

Prior to making any adjustments the three-member Greene County board of revision plans to view, during April, the 62 properties involved in complaints filed by owners that the new tax valuations placed on them during the recent reappraisal were excessively high.

The protests were filed before the deadline with the board, composed of County Auditor, J. J. Curlett, County Treasurer Harold J. Pawcett and Hugh Turnbull, president of the board of county commissioners.

VALLEY JERSEY BREEDERS ORGANIZED WEDNESDAY

The Miami Valley Jersey Breeders Association was organized Wednesday, April 4 at Normandy Farms out of Centerville, O. Six counties are in this group: Miami, Champaign, Clark, Greene, Preble, and Montgomery. The organization expects to lift the Jersey standards in breeding and put on parish showings to place awards eligible for the National Jersey show. Joseph Gilbert and Harlan Ramsey were named as directors for Greene county.

APRIL SNOW WITH FREEZE PROMISED

With ten inches of snow in Iowa and the west, Wednesday, Ohio stood to lose the mid weather and face the sudden drop in the mercury. Snow in light form fell here Thursday morning early. High winds would dry up much of the surface water. Promises of a heavy frost and freeze by Friday morning might nip the fruit and early flowers. The temperature Thursday morning was 30° with ice but no damage as yet to the fruit.

COUNCIL STILL SEEKS SOLICITOR

Village council had many topics under discussion at the Monday night monthly meeting. The question of service for sanitary sewerage for several property owners on E. Xenia ave. developed a lot of complications that may require the service of a "Philadelphia lawyer."

Mrs. Dorothy Wright of the Cedarville Lumber Co., was present and is asking council to extend the water line from East st. to Main st. through an alley at the Cozy Theatre. She proposed an exchange of property owner by herself and the village that an alley be opened legally from East st. to an alley at the rear of the Cozy Theatre. The alley at the theatre is private and owned by Nelson Creswell, owner of the theatre. It was represented by Mrs. Wright that she could get a lower insurance rate by having the "dead-end" connected with the Main st. line. Council took the matter under consideration as certain legal points would have to be ironed out. The water has not been fit for use for anything but fire protection and extending the line would give the service to two or more water patrons.

A communication was read from Attorney Robert Wead, declining the offer of village solicitor. He stated he would be unable to accept at the present time. Attorney Morris Rice of Osborn, declined at a previous meeting of council. Council then directed the Clerk to contact the law firm of Miller & Finney, Xenia.

The question of fire protection for property out of the village was raised and what the cost for service rendered should be. A bill for $25 and $10 additional for the firemen was ordered sent to Walter Fields, whose home was saved by the department a few weeks ago.

Member Cummings reported the village was badly in need of new fire hose. An order was given for hose more than a year ago but has never been filled due to priorities. He reports we have only about 500 feet of first class hose, when we should have 1,000 feet as fire hydrants are situated to give service 1000 feet in each direction.

The question of what status the property in the village was in should a fire break out while the department was on a run out of town. It was pointed out insurance rates are based on twenty-four hour fire protection service, which means the equipment is expected to remain in the village. The alternative is that with the fire equipment out of town would mean higher insurance rates on all as the town would be listed as not having proper protection. Another question raised what responsibility would the village have financially should a fire do damage with equipment out of town? The property owners are being taxed to pay for protection and would not have this if a fire took place when the equipment was out of town.

The clerk was instructed to contact state officials as to what responsibility the village has under the questions raised.

There was considerable discussion over the sanitary situation in town and particularly to rubbish being left where it "decorated" the banks of the stream. The discussion was not only among members of council but with visitors present also. It soon became a running debate that the sanitary problem is a grave one no one can dispute. A drive about town will verify that disease breeding places exist in great numbers and will be the hatchery for all kinds of summer flies and bugs unless cleaned up. For forty years the question of keeping the banks of Massies creek clean has been an issue.

The sanitary situation where many septic tanks drain to the creek can not be solved until the sanitary system for the entire village is ordered and completed. This authority belongs to council. Some months ago an effort was made to install a disposal plant west of town but all bids were beyond the engineer's estimates. The question of man-power, priorities and material made completion of the job uncertain.

The same Dayton engineer that prepared the plans for the village has been engaged by the Xenia City Commission for a large sewerage disposal plant for that city. We are informed the city will be able to get the material necessary for the job. Anyhow the commission has proceeded with all plans for letting the contract.

There is no better time for the village to revive the disposal plant here. Mr. H. A. Tyson has warned the vil-

SENATOR BURTON WRONG AGAIN AS USUAL

Senator Burton, Ohio, who will seek the nomination in the next senatorial primary, if he wishes to succeed himself, has a record of probably being wrong in his votes on New Deal measures, that would not click more than 40-60, using the Republican yardstick.

The Senator this week joined with the renegade Democratic New Dealers and voted for the labor-slave manpower bill. However, there were enough Republicans and Democrats of the old school to see through the Communistic bill and it was killed by a vote of 46 to 29.

If the Senator seeks a second term he not only will face an embarrassing situation in a Republican primary but if nominated would almost bring certain defeat on himself and do untold damage to other candidates on the Republican ticket.

As usual his companion, Sen. Joe Ball, R., Minn., who bolted the Republican ticket last November, also voted for the slave-labor act. As strong as unions are in Cuyahoga county, as open as all labor leaders fought this bill, even though demanded by Roosevelt, Burton votes blindly for the bill.

How he feels in the face of the vote in the Senate would be hard to explain, other than he seems more enamored with New Dealism than American principles whereby man may be free to work when and where they please.

The claim the bill was necessary to "aid the war effort" was blasted when Jimmy Byrnes resigned and it became known the administration wanted the measure passed, not for the war effort, but to control all labor, after victory in Germany. This was an admission the New Dealers were once more endeavoring to enslave labor just as Stalin does in Russia and as Hitler and Mussolini have done in Germany and Italy.

Ohio Republicans point with shame to the record Senator has made in the Senate. His record will hardly appeal to the boys that return from the front. They will discover the Senator has been endorsing principles that have been fighting against.

UNIONS OPPOSE VETERANS TAKING OLD JOBS

The Detroit News in a recent issue with glaring headlines exposed treatment given a former employee in the Ford Motor Car Company plant. This employee left his bench to answer the call of his country and he saw service on various European battlefronts with the U. S. forces. He was mustered out with an honorable discharge. When he left his post for the military camp he was told by the company management that his job would be open for him on his return. He accepted the statement in good faith. He learned also the federal government by act of congress had given him and all service men protection in that their jobs would be open for them when they returned home.

Many things have happened since that young man left his home city to do his part in the war. The CIO had taken over the Ford Company so far as labor was concerned with the backing of the New Deal. The company no longer can make good its promise to its former employees in service unless the CIO gives approval. While the government says by law the returning service men can have their old jobs back, the New Dealers take orders from Murray, Hillman, etc.

The Detroit paper found a woman, member of the CIO, at the bench of the former service man. The union held it would be impossible for the service man to take his job for he had been away fourteen months and thereby lost his seniority. The New Deal has done nothing for the service man. Strange to say there has not been an organization in that city to champion the cause of the veteran, let alone endorse the action of the News in broadcasting the injustice of a former factory employee. How different are the days as compared with those of yesterday when an owner of a great manufacturing concern cannot guarantee square dealing for his employees.

When the union Communists are driven out of the government and especially out of the White House, then will returning veterans get their reward. The time might not be so far away for on Tuesday, Michigan Republicans, elected all of the state candidates except one. Even Detroit went Republican. The light of a new day may be dawning.

COLLEGE NEWS

Organized labor has its knife out for Gov. Lausche in demanding passage of the Ross bill to permit women to work overtime in war factories. Some one should investigate the tire situation wherein the union has reduced the output of tires per man per day. While the Governor sweats over the stand of organized labor he will face a hot issue in demanding a cut in revenue for state school support. When the teachers get busy—better watch out, Governor.

Some days ago FDR hiked off to his Hyde Park home and newsmen were handed the war censorship gag, to keep the public from knowing what was going on in politics. Pegler took the issue to himself and flouted the order as "baloney". No one has ever heard of the M's being dispatched for the columnist.

We had a talk a few days ago with a boy from the European front. He will not return there but is to be shipped to the South Pacific. When asked how the boys overseas feel about the European war, he said they all want to come home the minute Germany gives up or is conquered. We asked about the thousands Churchill wants to keep over there to do police duty even after the war is over. The boys have a way of letting the government know how they feel and the folks at home have the votes. They will do this time just as they did in the other war. Woodrow Wilson was defeated for re-election. Then things were soon wound up in Europe.

How do you feel about the Roosevelt proposal to ship four million soldiers to China when Hitler gives up the fight? The New Dealers want to ship our boys in Europe, part of them to China to fight in the China-Jap contest. Roosevelt says it will take five years to clear China of the Japs. Would you be willing to have your son quartered in China for five years fighting the Japs when China has 400 million people to form her own army. Congress must authorize the China trip and we would guess even New Dealers would hold back on that proposal.

Our Commander-in-Chief has had a busy week. Byrnes and he have had a tilt and Jimmy jumped the New Deal for safe landing. He exposed the man-power bill which gave it a quick death. Jimmy did not relish the idea that he was to stand and take all the bricks heaved at the administration. The night-life crowd in New York City have turned on FDR. Then the motion picture colony have been saying sour things about New Dealers. Then FDR mused up the voting plan for the San Francisco powwow and he had to back down to please Stalin. There was the secret dealings on the peace plan and when exposed some Roosevelt dirty linen was hung out to public view.

The celebrated man-power bill, a 100 percent-Communist program to control labor as a war measure but later branded as a post-war measure for political purposes, died a death by strangulation in the Senate Tuesday. Roosevelt made a great plea on two different occasions for the bill as did the war and navy departments and a lot of "brass hats". It was the boldest piece of representation by misrepresentation and deceit ever to come from the White House from any president. Senator Johnson, Dem., Colo., who introduced the bill in the upper branch in good faith, he said, discovered it was a piece of underhanded work and he was played as a sucker. He announced Monday that he would vote the following day against his own measure. His statement was an open apology that he had been tricked by the White House.

FOUR BOYS GIVEN STATE

FARMER DEGREES BY F. F. A.

Three Greene County Future Farmers of America chapters, Beaver Creek, Cedarville and Xenia, received recognition for signal honors. Bruce Conner, reporter for the local chapter, received a silver medal. The degree of State Farmer has only been given once before in the Cedarville chapter and that was to Wallace Collins. This honor is bestowed usually in the senior year on the basis of scholarship, leadership in school and church activities as well as for carrying an outstanding agricultural program.

Harold Stormont was among the 168 selected to receive the degree of state farmer. Other boys honored in the county were Joseph Hutchison, Joseph Ary, and Roger Conklin. Harold Stormont and James Middleton, the latter from Xenia, were chosen to represent this county in the state contest.

Harold has been active in 4-H club work for seven years, carries projects in hogs and calves, and has a good foundation in registered South-down sheep. This year he is the leader of the Cedarville Boys 4-H club and is treasurer of the F. F. A.

Seaman First Class, John Sanders and his bride, the former Doris Townsley, were married at the United Presbyterian parsonage last Thursday afternoon returned Wednesday from their honeymoon trip. Come War or Peace, Cupid wins. All join in wishing the newlyweds bon voyage on the sea of matrimony.

Who would go back to the old ways even in sowing clover seed? Fifty years ago the sower walked and filled the sower. Now the tractor is used, the sower is of the turbine type, and the work is done in a fourth of the time and with much less energy. The gay nineties were okay in their day but this is the twentieth century—great day in which we live.

Plans for the meeting honoring Dr. Frank Albert Jurkat's Fifty Consecutive years of Service to Cedarville College and the Community are practically completed. There will be special music, messages from various organizations, an address by Honoree by adoption and eulogy. Many reservations have been made already. All who desire to make reservations are asked to do so by Wednesday to care for all. These are War days, you know. Call Mrs. J. M. Auld or the College office to make your reservations.

Chapel speaker Tuesday was Dr. James Lyons Chesnut, 18, pastor of the Bellevue Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh, Pa. Miss Florence Bowler had charge of devotions and the speaker was introduced by Gordon Taylor. Dr. Chesnut's father and Gordon's father were co-workers in the Reformed Presbyterian church in bygone days, the former pointed out. The speaker stated as the subject for our thinking today—"Looking to the Future". War, great as the situation is, it is not getting, is not the greatest problem confronting us. Problems for America really begin when the war is won. Among the problems, how use the lessons of science for constructive purposes rather than for destruction. Joy to direct mass education to the end of human welfare rather than those of the Nazis or Fascist types? World War II came by way of Asia, so will War III, unless Christian America awakes.

Shickelgruber was a paper hanger. "Joe" began as a train robber. Over three million persons were put to death that the present regime might prevail in Russia. Communism is godless and atheistic. It gives the people bread and clothes but that is not enough. Dr. Sam Higginbottom and Rev. Taylor have set the example of what is needed, namely, Christian democracy. God must be in everything of life if life is to be a success. Man has power to change the future. Who wants the ideals that have been prevailing in Europe the past two decades. The ideals of Jesus are the only solution. Students and faculty appreciate very much the fine messages Dr. Chesnut brings when he comes our way. The latch string is out, Doctor.

SAVE MORE THAN FIVE LBS. OF WASTE PAPER PER MONTH PER PERSON

COLUMBUS (Special)—"At least five pounds of waste paper per person per month."

That's what every man, woman and child in Ohio must turn in if the Buckeye State is to be among the nation's leaders in a waste paper salvage campaign, starting May 1.

The Ohio State Salvage Committee has challenged every other state in the country to determine which can increase its monthly per capita total of waste paper salvage during 1944. In back of this challenge are Ralph H. Stone, Director of the Ohio State Council of Defense; James G. Lewis, WFB Executive Secretary of Ohio, General Salvage Branch; Harold W. Nichols, Chairman, Ohio State Salvage Committee; Ethel G. Newcomb, Vice-Chairman; Robert O. Weible, Secretary; and James L. Hubbell, Administrator of the Ohio State Salvage Committee.

An urgent plea has gone out from the State Salvage Committee of the Ohio Council of Defense to increase present average monthly collections of 500,000 tons of waste paper to a minimum of 600,000 tons a month.

Unless this increase is effected at once, we face the danger of having not some, but many, of our paper mills close down. Salvage Committee officials explain.

"It has become increasingly hard to find enough manpower to cut sufficient pulpwood to fill the existing gap between our present average supply of waste paper and the pulp tonnage the paper mills need to keep abreast of the terrific demand this war has thrown upon them. Ohio's challenging salvage officials say.

"Every American must do his part by saving every piece of scrap paper. It is vital to our nation's successful prosecution of the war."

Ernie Pyle With the Navy:

Pilots Coached Before Attacks on Tokyo Area

Japs Jabber at Sight of Yanks; Rescue Airmen Off Enemy Shore

By Ernie Pyle

IN THE WESTERN PACIFIC.—We were up an hour and a half before daylight, for our planes had to be in the air at the first hint of dawn.

The first patrol was always launched by catapult, because in the wind-swept semi-darkness, it was too dangerous for them to make the run down the rolling deck.

After seeing the flights launched the first few days, it became odd stuff, and I would have stayed in bed and ignored it, but that was impossible. The catapult's huge launching machinery was directly above my cabin, and every time it shot a plane off it was just as though the Washington monument had fallen on the ship. Rip Van Winkle himself couldn't have slept through it. So I just got up.

Ernie Pyle

The fighter pilots were given their last briefing. In the "ready room" the squadron commander and intelligence officer showed them on maps and by drawings on the blackboard, just where they would strike. The squadron commander asked how many of the pilots had no wrist watches. Six held up their hands. The funny part was that the ship had no extra wrist watches, so I don't know why he asked the question in the first place.

Then he told what our approximate total planes after Japan would be, and how many it was probable the Japs would put up against us. And then he said: "So you see, each one of us will only have to take care of three Jap planes!"

The pilots all laughed and looked at each other sheepishly. (Days later, when the final scores were in, we found our force had destroyed Japs at nine-to-one.)

And at the end of his briefing, the squadron commander gave strict orders for the pilots not to shoot at Japs coming down in parachutes. "They're supposed to do it to us," he said, "but it isn't the thing for us to do."

The bomber pilots and their enlisted men, and radiomen were briefed the same way. After the intelligence officer had finished, the squadron commander said:

"We're going to dive low on the target before releasing our bombs. Since we're risking our necks anyway, there's no point in going at all unless we can do some damage, so go down low."

All through the various strikes on Japan, our task force kept sending planes back to fly a constant blanket of protection in the sky above us. I remember the funny sign chalked on the blackboard of the "ready room" first day, urging our patrol pilots to extra vigilance for Jap planes that might sneak out from the mainland to attack us. The sign said:

"Keep alert—remember your poor scared pals on the ship!"

Foe Surprised By Strike

We didn't know whether our first planes over the mainland would surprise the Japs or not. It didn't seem possible, yet there were no indications that they knew.

"The first day of our approach we had been knocking off Jap reconnaissance planes and picket boats. We hoped we had got these scattered planes and boats before they had time to radio back home the news of our presence. One of our destroyers had even sat all day on top of a Jap submarine to keep him from coming to the top and sending a warning.

But still we didn't know for sure, so there was "tensest" that first morning. We knew almost exactly what time our first planes would be over the Tokyo area.

We went to the radio room to listen. The usual Japanese programs were on the air. We watched the clock. Suddenly—at just the right time—the Jap stations all went off the air.

There was silence for a few minutes. And then the most Donald Duck-like screaming and jabbering you ever heard. The announcer was so excited you had to laugh. We knew our boys were there. After that, for us on the ship, it was just a matter of waiting, and hoping. And as the blackboard sign said, of being poor scared pals. Finally all but six of our planes were back from their strike on Tokyo and safely landed.

The six formed a separate flight, and we couldn't believe that all of them had been lost, and for that reason our officers didn't feel too concerned.

And then came a radio message from the flight leader. It said that one of the six was down in the ocean, and that the other five were hanging around to try to direct some surface vessel to his rescue. That's all we knew for hours. When we finally got the story, this was it:

Ensign Robert Buchanan of Clemen-ton, N. J., was hit by flak as they were diving on their target some 20 miles west of Tokyo. Buchanan himself was not hurt.

He kept his plane up till he got over water, but it was still very much Japanese water. In fact, it was in Tokyo's outer bay—the bigger one of the two bays you see on the map leading in to Tokyo.

Ensign Buchanan is an ace, with five Jap planes to his credit. He was flying his plane successfully, and got out in his rubber boat. He was only eight miles from shore, and five miles from the big island that stands at the bay entrance.

Then the flight leader took charge. He is Lieut. John Fecke of Duxbury, Mass. He is also an ace, and an old hand at the game. He has downed seven Jap planes.

Fecke took the remaining four of the flight, and started looking for an American rescue ship. They found one about 30 miles off the bay entrance.

They talked to him on the radio, told him the circumstances, and he sent back word he was willing to try. But he asked them to stick with him and give air support.

So Lieutenant Fecke ordered the other four to stay and circle above the ship, while he went back to pick up Buchanan's location and guard him.

But when he got there, he couldn't find Buchanan. He flew for 25 miles around Tokyo bay and was about to despair, when he began getting sun flashes in his eyes.

He flew over about three miles and there was Buchanan. He had used his signal mirror, just like it says in the book.

Snatched From Lion's Mouth

In the meantime, the ship's progress was slow. It took almost two hours to get there. And one by one the aerial escort began getting trouble, and one by one Fecke ordered them home to our ship, which was getting farther away all the time.

Lt. Irl Sonner of Petaluma, Calif., lost the use of his radio, and had to leave. Lt. Max Barnes of Olympia, Wash., got dangerously low on gas, and Fecke sent him home. Gas shortage also sent back Lt. Bob Murray of Muncie, Ind.

That left only Lieutenant Fecke circling above the man in the boat, and Lt. Arnold Berner of Springfield, Ark., flying lone aerial escort for the rescue ship.

Finally the ship was past the bay entrance. The skipper began to have his doubts. He had to go within three miles of the gun-dotted island. He was within five minutes flying distance of land, and Jap planes could butcher him.

Furthermore he looked at his chart, and saw that he was in "restricted waters," meaning they were probably mined. It was certainly no place for a ship to be.

The skipper radioed Fecke and said he couldn't go any farther. Fecke radioed back and said, "It's only two miles more. Please try."

The skipper answered and said, "Okay, we'll try."

And they pulled it off. They went right into the lion's mouth, pulled out our pilot, and got safely away. Then, and then only, did Fecke and Berner start home.

They came back to us three hours after all the rest had returned. They had flown six hours on a three-hour mission. But they helped save an American life by doing so.

Carrier Pilots Land Almost on Dime

The first time you see a plane land on a carrier you almost die. At the end of the first day my muscles were sore just from being all tensed up while watching the planes come in.

It is all so fast, timing is so split-second, space is so small—well, carrier pilots just have to be tops. Planes don't approach a carrier as they would on land—from way back and in a long glide. Instead, they almost seem to be sneaking up as if to surprise it. They're in such an awkward position and flying at such a crazy angle you don't see how they can ever land on anything. But it's been worked out by years of experience, and it's the best way. Everything is straightened out in the last few seconds of flying. That is—it works.

Agriculture In the News

By W. J. DEYDEN

Drying Mushrooms
Dried mushrooms offer a chance for the farm child or farm wife to supplement the "egg money."

Types of mushrooms cultivated in the United States have not proven satisfactory for dehydration, and for this reason dried mushrooms sold in the United States have been imported.

The wild varieties have proven satisfactory for drying. They can be successfully dried by being placed on wire trays, one layer deep, and having a rapid current of warm dry air passed over them. The same equipment used for other dehydration will prove satisfactory.

Many who live near wild mushroom patches, might be able to gather far more than needed for immediate consumption. When thoroughly dried they will keep in good condition for several years. They can be sold dry to stores or restaurants or kept for winter home use.

Tuberculosis Culls

Many older hens are carriers of tuberculosis, and if they are housed in winter with the pullets they can spread the disease to the younger stock, Dr. P. C. Neuzil of the American Veterinary Medical association points out in recommending that old hens be culled out of the flock.

In some areas 50 per cent of the poultry flocks are affected by this disease and tests show that older birds are the principal carriers.

Pig Weaning Rules

Pigs should be weaned at about eight weeks of age to allow for breeding of sow. The sow's feed should be reduced a few days before weaning time to prevent udder trouble. As the milk flow will continue, the practice of weaning a few pigs at a time is not advisable as the udders not used will become caked and hard. When the udder becomes hard and caked, the pigs may be returned for a few minutes each day until the trouble is corrected.

legs numerous times that he desired some action taken that he can be relieved of the present sewerage being emptied on his property west of town. With the disposal plant the village can start the planning for extending sewerage on other streets where there has been request for it and where property owners do not have to install septic tanks and then have sewerage assessments added later for a sewer system.

The sanitation problem is entirely in the hands of council and certainly now is the time to plan for the improvement. More water and sewer taps means more revenue for the municipal water system.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

THE BOOK AND THE FAITH

LESSON TEXT—Ysaiah 14:1-27.
GOLDEN TEXT—The word of the Lord endureth forever.—1 Peter 1:25.

Christians are the people of one book—the Bible. They read and use other books, but the book is God's Word, and everything else must be in accord with its teaching.

In this blessed book they find the only revelation of God's saving grace. Other attributes of God may be found in the book of nature. There we find that God is powerful, orderly, wise, etc., but nowhere in nature is it written that God can save a man from his sin. We find that only in the Bible, God's written Word as it reveals Jesus Christ the Saviour who is the Living Word.

I. The Eternal Glory of God's Kingdom (vv. 10-18).

The kingdom of God refers to His reign over all things and beings, but with special reference to those who are willingly subject to Him and eager to live for His glory.

Everything in God's creation is to be lifted up in praise of that kingdom. All His works shall praise Him. They reveal Him in part, but even that limited revelation is glorious. The man who cannot see God in nature is indeed a dull clod. The heavens declare His glory and the earth shows forth His handiwork (Ps. 19:1).

Greater and more precious in God's sight is the praise of His saints. Dumb creation is acceptable only as dumb creation. We, His saints, are to speak His praise, to "bless" Him (v. 10). We are to spread abroad among all men (v. 12) the news of God's greatness and goodness.

"His kingdom is an everlasting kingdom," and thus it at once takes its place as superior to what men call kingdoms as hardly to be mentioned in the same breath. There is no limit to God's kingdom either in its extent or its duration.

How stupid, then, that some, yes many, foolish men and women set themselves up in rebellion against God. That is the height of all folly and leads only to disaster. How wise are those who yield their lives to His control that their little span of life may find rich meaning in the One who endures forever.

II. The Abundant Provision of God's Mercy (vv. 14-16).

We are all completely dependent on the mercies of God for everything that we need for life—physical, mental, and spiritual.

Consider the food for the body. God opens His bountiful hand and every living creature is provided with the food necessary for its sustenance. How this is accomplished is a mystery and a marvel to us, but God is able to do it.

Centuries ago men were fearful that the earth could not produce enough food to keep the increasing population of mankind alive, but God sees to it that even when He has to do it in spite of man's waste and destruction.

However, life is not just material. There must be a satisfying of man's spiritual nature. He needs someone to save him from his own sinful weakness, to deliver him from his sorrow and affliction. Who can do this but God? And He does it (see v. 14).

How does He do it? Through the ministry of His Holy Word. Therein man finds salvation and satisfaction. The Bible is the light that shines upon his way. It is his comfort in sorrow and his strength in temptation. It exhorts and encourages, convicts and cures.

How endless and how overflowing is the mercy of our God. Let us "wait upon" Him, knowing that He is not only mindful of our need, but eager to do for us more than we can ask or think.

III. The Saving Power of God's Grace (vv. 17-19).

The Lord, who "is high unto all them that call upon him" (v. 18), is able to save because He is "righteous in all his ways and holy in all his works" (v. 17). Only a just and holy God can deal with sin, and yet only a merciful God would provide redemption; but in our God mercy and truth meet (Ps. 115:1; Pa. 103). He is both "just and the justifier of him that believeth in Jesus" (Rom. 3:26).

He it is who is near to all that "call upon him in truth" (v. 18), and surely it is such a calling on the Lord which is in mind in Romans 10:13, where we read that "whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved."

Notice that God's nearness, His salvation, and His fulfillment of the desires of man are for those who call on Him and who "fear Him" (v. 19). This is not a matter of magical use of a ritual, or a verbal profession of faith. It must come from the heart, and when it does, God responds.

So we find God's word to be the source of our instruction concerning those things which can make us wise unto salvation (1 Tim. 3:15). It is the Book of our faith!

WEEKLY PAY IN WAR BONDS

Is He the UNLUCKY One?

One school child out of five on the average has defective eyesight. And the percentage mounts to 4 out of 10 at college age! No parent can afford to neglect eyesight.

Even in these critical, busy days anyone can take these four simple precautions against eyestrain. Read them carefully and teach them to your children. Eyesight is too precious to risk.

When the war is over we are all going to have Better Light for Better Sight. In the meantime, let's conserve both eyesight and light. Take care of your eyes, but don't waste light.

THE DAYTON POWER AND LIGHT COMPANY

"Why am I Still Waiting, WHEN MY NEIGHBOR JUST GOT A TELEPHONE?"

WE KNOW just how you felt when the new neighbor across the street got a telephone, after you had been waiting patiently for many months for home telephone service.

You can't be blamed for feeling put out, so we want you to know why your neighbor might have obtained telephone service. It might have been:

1. Your neighbor may have a key position with a vital war industry—or with some essential civilian activity affecting public welfare, health or safety—which requires that he be available at all hours. This would give him precedence over other applicants.
2. He may have applied for service many months before he actually moved, and before your application was made.
3. He may have moved into your neighborhood from a home in the same community, or one nearby, where he had telephone service. Transfers of the service of present subscribers are made within the same general area whenever possible.

In every instance we shall be glad to check for you just why your neighbor got service ahead of you.

Telephone people are following the procedures which were set up by the War Production Board, when shortages in telephone facilities began to appear in 1942 and are installing service in its proper turn under the fair and necessary rules.

We know what telephone service means to every home and regret exceedingly the inconvenience caused to those on our waiting lists. It also grieves us that we can't tell you how soon you will be served. We can assure you that your order will not be forgotten and will be filled in its proper turn, even though that might be some time after final victory.
